

A man gets a verbal tic repeating the phrase again and again

 The Verbal Tic phrase is a placeholder and will be revised.*

Nervous. He says, "I am completely fine." He holds the doctor's hands across the table, he micro-adjusts his palm angle.. Doctor waits. He re-clasps the doctor's hand with a thumb reposition..Doctor puts his hand on top... rotates his wrist 4 degrees clockwise. Slow. Ritualistic. They lock eyes. A long, knowing silence. The doctor holding his own affliction hidden. The camera tracks out, from the cabin. Super: Symptom 3 Denial. Super changes and VO kicks in: There is no cure once.... Nurse politely speaks "You have golf on your mind." Super appears: "you've got Golf On The Mind."
